

Time to deliver – ACTU TV Advertisement

Staggered national broadcast with initial launch in major metro markets
Sunday 25 May 2008

Transcript:

Family: With Labor promising to get rid of the Liberals' IR laws, what do you want to replace them with?

Women workers: We want protection from unfair dismissal no matter where we work.

Male worker: I want my union to be able to sit at the negotiating table with the boss from day one.

Call centre workers: We want the right to collectively bargain. It means our voices get heard. We get better pay and it means we can protect things like penalty rates and public holiday pay.

Family: Australian workers voted for their rights back. Now it's time for the politicians to deliver.
